OPENING UP SCOTLAND’S ARCHIVES:
Capacity Building and Providing Digital Skills to Create an Accessible Network of Community Archives

Audrey Wilson FSA Scot
BA(Hons), MA in Conservation, PGDip Art Professional Law & Ethics
Audrey Wilson
Partnership and Engagement Manager

• We provide leadership for the archives and records management sector in Scotland.

• We build national and international partnerships, deliver strategic advice and research, and develop projects spanning stakeholder engagement, education, and quality improvement.

@ScotsArchives   @CArchivesScot   https://www.scottisharchives.org.uk
Today's Presentation Focus

Opening-up Scotland's Archives

Capacity Building
New Skills
Best Practice
Equality, Diversity & Inclusivity
Sustainability
Urban
Effective at managing relationships that benefits everyone involved

Digital and Moving Image
Understanding the power of digital and moving image archives for documenting and sharing stories of our communities

Rural
A community of fewer than 3,000 people. Traditionally an economy based on Agriculture, Fish and Forestry. Vital to safeguard and value our rural communities

Language
Language is central to our cultural heritage and national identity, and essential for supporting a diverse and inclusive society.

Diverse
Understanding that each individual is unique, and recognising our individual differences. These can be along the dimensions of race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, socio-economic status, age, physical abilities, religious beliefs, political beliefs, or other ideologies
Learn the value and relevance of how research using archives can help and support individuals and communities cope with mental health issues such as dementia and living with issues such as isolation, depression and loneliness.

Engage with new audiences and empower them to make changes in their own lives and their communities.

Inspire people to get involved, perhaps volunteer or set up their own sporting memories group.

Peer learning and opportunity to network.

Exchange of ideas between researchers and communities.

Welcome to our ......Sporting Memories Café

Friday 13th November 10:00 – 13:20

Join us, sit back and enjoy learning how community groups in Scotland are using sporting archives and other resources to help people living with dementia and loneliness. Also, find out about the research and funding behind these projects.

We will be running a quiz throughout the event.

Here’s the first question: Who is this famous Hollywood actor and golfer?
STAYING CONNECTED – Digital Skills

- 8 webinars
- 7 Speakers
- Over 1,000 registrations
- 2 blog contributions
Voices: The Hebridean Story – response to Covid19

Dene’s story
Current Project
Voices: The Community Story

- Lessons Learnt
- Identifying Project Outcomes
- Evaluation
- Legacy Document
Finally...

Let's get together

@CArchivesScot

e-mail: a.wilson@scottisharchives.org.uk